Course description

Would you like to promote a team-work approach into your family life? Our Forest Families course will help you and your family to understand the real benefits of working together, using communication and understanding. We support you to recognise each other's strengths and skills, and use these to work positively as a family unit. You will develop some forest skills, whilst spending some quality time as a family in the great outdoors around beautiful Wentworth Castle.

On this short course, you and your family will learn to build a shelter, work safely with tools, identify some local volunteering opportunities, and also produce a digital book of photos and thoughts to help you remember this wonderful experience.

What can this course lead to?

Other outdoor learning opportunities such as Forest Confidence, Forest Skills, Being Active Outdoors or you may like to try an indoor classroom and enrol on some of our English, maths or digital courses.
