

Pathways to Employment: Prepare for Learning (H & SC)

The course is aimed at individuals who want to progress with learning for health and social care careers, but also need to develop their confidence and resilience for returning to learning.

This is a 3-day course that enables students to explore different strategies and tips to help them prepare for further study and qualifications. Students are encouraged to create their own personal 'learning survival kit' to help build resilience and confidence required for further study and training required within the health and social care sector.

When does this start and end?

- 29 September 2025 - 1 October 2025
